Admission to the edifice full be strictly limited to those holding ickets of admission, each of which contexets of admission, the state of the pews. The interior will be magnificently decorated, and the attars will blaze with hundreds of waxen tapers. CONFERRING THE BERETTA.

When the procession has arrived and the members have taken their places in the aanctuory, the ceremony of confer-ring the beretta will begin by the read-ing of the pontifical letters, which create Mgr. Satoili a cardinal, by Dr. Rooker, who will act as the secretary of the papal ablegate, Mgr. Sbaretti, They will be read in both Latin and English. During the cermony Marnuls Sacripanti During the ceremony Marquis Sacripanti will stand beside the beretta and the official documents as their guard. At the conclusion of the reading Cardinal Gib-bons will place the beretta on the head of Cardinal Satolli, and the latter will then retire to the sacristy, where he will change the purple of the archbishop for change the purple of the archbishop for a scarlet cossock, a cappa magna of similar hue, and the other vestments of his new dignity. The cappa magna is a long vestment, with a silk-lined hood, and the cassock is the long, close-fitting garment which is the distinctive dress of the Catholic ciergy. On his return to the sanctuary Cardinal Satolii will vest for the mass, which will be rendered, with himself as the celebrant.

THE WHITEHOUSE CASE. A Settlement of Accounts in Full and No Prosecution.

COMORN, KING GEORGE COUNTY, VA., January 4.-(Special.)-The January term of the King George County Court, just closed, was one of interest, and ittracted a large attendance. The case attracted a large attendance. The case of the Commonwealth against Deputy-Treasurer E. B. Whitehouse was docketed for trial at this term, and profound public interest in this case drew to the court-house citizens from all parts of the county on the first day of the term. It will be remembered that some months ago Mr. Whitehouse was indicted by the grand jury for a shortage in his official accounts. It was subsequently stated through this correspondence that the indictment was an unfortunate and premature move, and predicted at the same time that the case would probably never Pacetti and Francione Go to the Grand Jury-Their Attorney Fined.

The charges against Joseph Pacetti, who shot and wounded his wife, Filemina Pacetti. Wednesday morning, and those against Raphael Francione, charged with against Raphael Francione, charges with firing his pistol at some unknown person at the same time, were investigated in the Police Court yesterday. An interesting incident in connection with the trial of the two Italians was the imposing of a fine of 80 upon Mr. George E. Wise, for contempt of court. Mr. Wise represented Pacetti and Francione, and it was when the Justice was about to render his decision that the attorney got up for the purpose of asking his Honor not to increase the ball-bond of Pacetti. The Justice told him to sit down, but Mr. Wise and that he thought he should be allowed to make a statement. The lawyer was told to "shut up and sit down," and he came back at the Justice, and several sharp words were passed. Justice Crutchfield then instructed the Sergeant to enter a line of 100 against Mr. Wise Mr. Maury and Mr. Sam Page, two lawyers, arose and asked that the Justice condone the offence, which Mr. Wise had unwittingly committed, but Mr. Wise said he did not wish to be understood as offering an apology, and the Court refused to remit the fine. firing his pistol at some unknown person Wise said he did not wish to be under-stood as offering an apology, and the Court refused to remit the fine. THE ELECTION BILLS.

Eight Different Ones Now Pending Before the Legislative Committees.

THE MOST IMPORTANT CHANGES.

Propose to Abolish the Special Constable and Make Other Provis-

for this session there have been just in the two houses. The most important of these is the one present Mr. Wickham, in the Senate, a duplicate the same day by Mr. Winston. The provisions of that bill are somewhat similar to those of the Maryland and New York election laws. The much-objected-to "special constable" feature of the present Walton law is entirely elimi nated in Senator Wickham's bill, and the following provision is substituted therefor: "Any voter may call to his aid any qualified elector in the same district, whe him, and there mark his ballot for him;

may retire to one of the booths with him, and there mark his ballot for him; but no such person shall so mark the ballots of more than one such voter at any one election, and the judges of election shall keep upon the poll-books a memorandum in writing after the names of each and every one of such persons so assisted, specifying the name of the elector so assisting."

Other features of the bill are the requirement for the ballots to be uniform requiring the same size of type to be used for all candidates; prescribing it detail how the ballots shall be printed, making special provisions for the presidential electors, and for the cases wherein constitutional amendments are submitted to the popular vote; making it the duty of the judge of the county, when the Electoral Edard meets, to stamp the ballots with the seal; to cause to be delivered to the clerk of the county a sample hallot, which shall be placed upon file for examination by the public, it being made the duty of the clerk to attend to this.

The bill also provides that opposite the name of each candidate there shall be a square 2-8 of an inch in size, and the voter shall put a cross-mark in the square opposite the name of the candidate for whom he wishes to cast his vote. It is prescribed that in presidential elections the ballot shall be headed, "Presidential." and that the electors of each party shall be grouped together, with a small square for the cross-mark opposite each name. Opposite each group shall be printed opposite each name. The bill further presidential candidate represented shall be printed opposite each name.

shall be printed the name of the party, and the name of the presidential candidate represented shall be printed opposite each name. The bill further provides that a person who is physically disabled shall receive the assistance of the judge in preparing his ballot, but that intoxication shall not be regarded as a physical disability. physical disability.

SENATOR HAY'S TWO BILLS.

Senator Hay introduced two bills, the principal feature of which is the provision requiring that upon each ballet shall be a separate column containing the names of the candidates of the different parties, and that there shall also be a column for independent candidates. The till further provides that just above the name of each party shall be printed a device to be chosen by the State chairman of each party, and communicated to the chairmen of the several electoral boards, at least thirty days before an election is held. It shall be the duty of the judges of election to have posted up on the day of the election in a conspicuous place at their voting-place one of the official tickets to be used at his precinct. Like Senator Wickham's bill, Mr. Hay's measure provides that those physically disabled shall receive the assistance of the judges of election in preparing their ballots.

WHAT SENATOR PARR PROPOSES. Two bills introduced by Senator Parr are similar to those of Mr. Hay's, with the exception that the judges of election are required to assist, not only those physically disabled from preparing their ballots, but also those who may not be able to do so on account of educational disqualifications. It also provides that the Board of Supervisors of each county, and the Council of each city, shall constitute the electoral boards.

IDEAS OF MR. CRAIG.

In the House, besides the bill introduced by Mr. Winston, which is the same measure as introduced in the Senate by Mr. Wickham, there have been three election bills presented by Mr. Craig. Most of the provisions of these bills are identically the same as those contained in the measures introduced by Mr. Hay. It is proposed that the names of the candidates of each party shall be printed in separate columns on the ballot, and, like the Hay measure, requires that an official ballot shall be posted in a conspicuous place in each voting-place on the day of election. It does not provide, however, for the device for each party. IDEAS OF MR. CRAIG.

An amendment to section 3 of the Waiton law, however, provides that three days before every election the secretary of the electoral board shall deliver to the sheriff of the county or sergeant of the city or town, as the case may be, the official ballots, together with the poll-books for the various precincts in his said county, city, or town, sealed, and directed to the three judges of election, whose several names shall appear on the package. The said sheriff or sergeant shall receipt therefor, certifying that the seals appeared to be untampered with, and shall deliver either in person or through his deputies to one of the judges of election, taking his receipt therefor.

The sheriff will receive as compensation for the performance of his duties under this section the same fee as for summoning witnesses. The bill also provides, as does the Wickham bill, for the judges to fix the ballots of disabled electors

Still another bill is being prepared by a committee selected in the opposition caucus, and this will probably be the most radical measure of ail, it will be submitted to both Republican and ropulist leaders before being introduced.

Covenant Service at Broad Street.

To-night at the close of the evening discourse at Broad-Street Methodist church a brief covenant service will be held. Printed copies of the covenant for 125 will be distributed in the audience, and at the appointed time the whole congregation, led by the pastor, will repeat it aloud in token of their acceptance of the solemn agreement as to the righ, way to live during the passing year. The covenant hymn will then be sung, after which a short prayer of consecration will be effered by the pastor. A copy of the covenant with be given to every one present, with the request that it be carried home, and placed somewhere between the lide of the Bible, so that it may be seen whenever the Word of God is opened, and read during the present year.

of which there are between 700 and 802, state that the old wearers of the gray are coming in great numbers. Richmond invites them specially She will give them a hearty welcome. To-morrow night the Finance Committee of the reunion will appear before the City Council and ask of that body an appropriation of $10,000 for the purpose of entertaining the visitors. This is but a trifle larger sum than that spent on the occasion of the unveiling of the Confederate Soldiers' and Sailors' monument, and will, of course, be supplemented by personal contributions on the part of citizens of the city and State.

At a subsequent meeting of the Council it will be asked to appropriate $1,500 to construct the addition to the Music Hall at the Exposition-Grounds, thereby giving to that property and to the city giving to that property and to the city for all time, an auditorium in which can be held great conventions and meetings of all kinds. This will be something Richmond has long needed.

It has been the general aim of the architect to have as few posts as possible in the auditorium, and to depend on thorough span trusses of a combination of timbers and tie-rods for supporting roof and galleries. The foundations will be of brick pillars about six feet apart, with vertical boarding between them. The galleries will be supported by trussed girders. The roof will be of tin, with sheathing-boards.

The rostrum and galleries are to have a neat and substantial balustrade, constructed with post-railings and scroll balusters, all neatly dressed, and dressed posts to support galleries, and dressed siding to form face of rostrum. The roof is to be painted with two coats of

TO HELP RICHMOND'S POOR. This the Purpose of Next Fride;

Evening's Entertainment. The present bleak and biting cold spell, of little concern quence to those who have only to pile on a little more fuel and don a heavier wrap to keep comfortable will but add to the already suffering plight of many of the poor of the city. It is to alleviate in a degree the distress of the unfortunate at this present time of need that the entertainment which will be given the entertainment with the given next Friday night at the Academy of Music has been arranged.

Surely no stronger basis of appeal could be taken than the object for which the entertainment will be given. At the same time, the merits of the programme that has been prepared of time! I interesting enough to attract one of the largest has been prepared of itself is interesting enough to attract one of the largest crowds of the season. The feature of the evening will be an humorous monologue by Colonel C. O'B. Cowardin on the unique subject of "Things I Don't Know." The Webb Quartette, so well and favorably known as one of Richmond's choicest musical organizations, will, together with Mr. Andre Burthe, whose eleverness as a singer of the popular humorous songs of the day is known to many in this city, contribute a preliminary musicale, which of the day is known to many in this city, contribute a preliminary musicale, which would of itself prove a treat to any audience. Mr. Burthe has for several seasons accompanied as soloist the University of Virginia Glee Club on its tours. Mr. Horace F. Smith has been com-missioned by the Society of St. Vincent de Faul, under the auspices of which the entertainment is given, to manage the en-tire affair. This society has among its beneficiaries persons of all creeds, and the proceeds will be distributed to the

It is confidently expected that the audience will be one of large proportions, and that at least $500 will be realized for the benefit of the poor of Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Sullivan had a most charming musical entertainment at their home, on north Tenth street, Fritheir home, on north Tenth street, Friday evening. Among their guests were Messrs. E. D. Hotchkiss, George L. Street, F. W. Cunningham, Jacob Reinhardt, and Louis P. Ecker. Music, both vocal and instrumental, of a high order was rendered by Mr. Sullivan's daughters, Misses Addle and May Sullivan. During the evening a delightful suppor was served. Singing by Messrs. Cunningham and

Mac to Appear at Home.

Mr. Mac. Jones arrived over the Southern railway from a very successful trip.
Mr. Jones has met with a good reception, and his "Chaik Talk" and character impersonations have pleased the people wherever he has appeared. He will make his first public appearance in Richmond next Thursday night at Belvidere Hail for the benefit of Sidney Lodge of Good Tempiars. Mr. Jones will doubtless be greeted by a large audience.
